

Adam Tervort
Liberty, MO
adam@adamtervort.com
(816) 929-5261
adamtervort.com

March 29, 2025

Hiring Team

Guild Education
Guildeducation.com

Dear Guild Team,

Guild's mission—to unlock opportunity for the workforce of today—resonates deeply with me. For over a decade, I've led teams that sit at the intersection of people, technology, and systems. Most recently as VP of Operations at SpiderOak, I've been responsible for engineering and DevOps teams alongside support, IT, and HR. That cross-functional view has sharpened my belief that great software only happens when teams are well-aligned, psychologically safe, and trusted to solve hard problems.

I've managed squads building SaaS platforms from secure collaboration tools to enterprise integrations. I've embedded technical teams with customers, supported IRAD innovation, and built internal systems to improve delivery. Across each domain—be it support, DevOps, or product engineering—I've coached emerging leaders, reduced friction between teams, and built frameworks that scale. My focus is always the same: people first, systems second, outcomes third.

What excites me about Guild isn't just the role—it's the opportunity to contribute to a company that treats learning and career growth as core infrastructure. I'd love to bring my experience to a place where engineering is both a craft and a catalyst for real human progress.

If it sounds like we might be aligned, I'd welcome the chance to talk more.

Warmly,

Adam Tervort