SUMMARY

Strategic operator with 10+ years of experience leading cross-functional programs across marketing technology, product alignment, and customer experience. Proven success in building systems, analyzing performance, and translating insight into action across fast-moving B2B SaaS environments.

At SpiderOak, I led the sales and marketing functions for our CrossClave product—owning martech systems architecture, campaign enablement, CRM migration, and analytics design. I've also led company-wide ops and strategy, integrating data, product feedback, and customer signals into scalable internal decision frameworks.
