Hiring Team
Ironclad

Dear Ironclad Team,

Contract lifecycle management is one of those problems that looks simple until you've lived through the mess. Even in well-run orgs, things fall through the cracks—review timelines stretch, obligations get lost, and renewals sneak up at the worst times. It reminds me of SSL certificate expirations: everyone knows they matter, but even Fortune 500s drop the ball. That's why I find Ironclad's approach so compelling. You're solving a quietly complex problem in a way that makes other companies stronger.

My background is in operational leadership at a growth-stage SaaS company, most recently as VP of Operations at SpiderOak. I've built and scaled systems across engineering, HR, finance, and customer experience—aligning strategy with execution, enabling cross-functional teams, and setting up rhythms that keep people rowing in the same direction. I've led company planning cycles, built KPI frameworks, driven post-Series C scaling, and translated investor and board priorities into systems that actually get traction inside the business.

What excites me about this role isn't just the scope—it's the chance to help Ironclad scale with clarity and cohesion. I love building structures that make complex orgs more human and effective. If that sounds aligned, I'd welcome the chance to talk.

Warmly,
Adam Tervort
