Hiring Team
Coinbase

Dear Coinbase Strategy & ESTO Team,

What you're building at Coinbase resonates with me on a deep level: the ambition, the pace, and the emphasis on systems that scale decision-making and execution. I've spent the past decade designing and leading internal operations that enable people to work smarter—especially through systems, tooling, and programs that align across engineering, security, and people ops. This role feels like a great fit.

At SpiderOak, I led enterprise tooling rollouts (Okta, 0365, internal AI automation) and ran strategic planning and review cycles (QBRs, OKRs, department signal lights) across multiple teams. I've worked closely with DevOps and Security to harden internal systems, managed complex vendor and contractor relationships, and led cross-functional programs with visibility to the executive level. My background combines program execution, high-context stakeholder management, and a systems-first approach to scale and clarity.

Coinbase's operating culture—intense, focused, high-leverage—mirrors what I've thrived in. I'd love to bring my operational toolkit to your mission and help the EAA org deliver at its best.

Thanks for considering,
Adam Tervort
