SUMMARY

Empathetic, systems-driven people leader with a decade of executive experience scaling high-trust, high-output teams across engineering, operations, HR, customer success, and support. I build calm, clear company cultures that work—especially in remote-first environments.

At SpiderOak, I led global operations and people strategy through post-Series C growth. I've designed performance frameworks, revamped hiring systems, built onboarding and internal comms flows, and helped shape the way hundreds of people work across roles and time zones. I'm a long-time Pirate Ship customer and shipping nerd (my wife runs a successful e-comm side hustle), and I'd be thrilled to help steer the crew.
